Mrs. Dr. Dwight
Mrs. Gates and
Mrs. Clark to Twenty
Dear Mrs. Gates

Mrs. Wm. Gates
Mrs. Wm. Gates
Mrs. Wm. Gates

Shed us lack of trouble with servants - Have a useless boy, and my Cook is very troublesome Saturday and Sabbath evenings she always comes home the worse for drink -

Tonight I feel dull and low spirited, so you must excuse excuses for my letter being gloomy Harry has been for a month, he has transferred from Russel Ivey to Capt. Lemm, now he has been moved to Victoria Wash, he tells me it is not the most charming place to live in, tho he has met several nice people, going from home has done Harry us end of good. Ella is going to board with Mr. Sloan for three or four months she invited her, and will prey

all expenses, so I said yes — Edith tells me she is counting the days, until she comes home, I shall be very glad to see her in July she will have been away 18 months — Fling remains in at Philadelphia — Ettie looks well but always complains of feeling tired, she is very bright, and I think has grown to fast — Miss J. Lloyd tells me her last news of you all is good, so I hope as the warm weather comes on you will feel better — Am I sing for the Cold weather, the heat completely knocks me up — Our new organ is put up in the Church, and I hear is pronounced satisfactory, it is to be played in the Church for the first time on Easter Sunday —

Our Bishop has written to the Bishop of Exeter to choose us a good Evangelist, to take the place of Mr. Bluck - The Wilmots are in great trouble their eldest son died in Johannesburg, they had not even heard he was ill -
The Lyttons are back at Bloemfontein Mr. Lytton wrote letters, I have not seen to see them yet -
Mr. Ian Trevelyan hopes to leave for Germany on the 15th of May, he tells Ethel he will take her with him, and leave her at School in Bonn, and when he goes home again on leave, he will bring her back - but she must consult Mr. Pelham-Clinton leads her love to you all - I ought to write to Miss Lucy tonight but really I feel so tired - Kindest remembrances